

Creating an EnergyFolks Account

What: EnergyFolks is a platform for connecting students/professionals around the world with energy-related content such as jobs, events, and discussions.

Who:

- Anyone can create an EnergyFolks account and submit event, job, or discussion posts.
- Posts are moderated by the leadership of the energy group you choose to share your post with.
- Anyone can create an account and subscribe to as many energy club calendars/job boards as they wish.

Why:

- You can share your content with a network of thousands of energy enthusiasts
- You can choose to receive weekly or daily notifications of new jobs, events, etc. filtered by location and type.

Instructions:

1. Go to our website: energyclub.stanford.edu
2. Hover over the “Get an Account or Login” button

3. If you use LinkedIn, click Login with LinkedIn.
4. Otherwise, click “Signup for a new Account”
5. Complete the signup form.

Troubleshooting:

1. In steps 3&4, you will need to temporarily disable your popup blocker.
2. If you're using a shared computer or you have another Energyfolks account, you may need to clear your cookies. Alternatively, you can open an "in private" or incognito" browsing session.
3. Energyfolks login is currently not supported on some mobile browsers.
